Dear Ms. Lauber,

I have been researching my mothers family (Jewell) this year. I finally sent for your Mothers Death Certificate. That is how I found your name & address.

You and I are 2nd cousins. My Grandmother was Huldah Bertha Jewell Cornwell and one of her brothers was Fred H. Jewell, whom I believe was your Grandfather.

I would love to know a little bit about your Mother & Father and anything you might have been told of the Jewell's or who you have known if any. I know from records that your brother is deceased and I have not been able to find anything on him besides his date of birth & death in Ojai.

I trust you are well and hope this letter is not a burden to you.

I hope you will respond and if you have any questions, I could possibly answer a few.

My name is Juanita (List) Coffelt. I am 58. My mother who is 94 and in a rest home is Lizzie Cornwell List. Her mother was Huldah Jewell Cornwell as I mentioned.

My Mother and one other are the only surviving members of their generation (Jewell cousins) known to me.

I am sending you an envelope in hopes you will answer, but trust me I do not wish to bother anyone.

Have a great day. Do you have E-mail?

Yours Truly

Juanita Coffelt

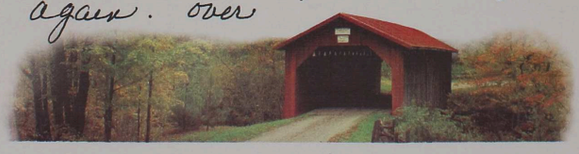
Dear Floretta,

I have not forgotten you. I still plan to send you some copies of some photos. Many things have happened since last Aug.

What slowed me down for a long time was a pinched sciatic nerve: We have had other things also, like everybody does.

I hope you will send a copy of a picture of Fred Jewell, your Mother & Yourself.

I promise I will get back to you again. over



Mother turned 95 in May. Still doing pretty good in the rest home.

I found this stationary somebody sent me. But I mostly use the P.O. Box 1952, Oakdale, Ca 95361

Just you are well.

Yours truly (your Jewell cousin)

GEORGE WASHINGTON PEACHY

This narrative concerns of one of our older pioneers was a decendent of Revolutionary stock, whose father, Benjamin Peachy, was a soldier in the Continental Army, serving in numerous campaigns, participating in many battles and endured all the rigors and hardships of Valley Forge. Bro. Peachy was born in Maysville, Mason County, Kentucky, May 18th, 1829. When thirteen years old his father died and the family went to live with relatives in Ohio, leaving George at Princeton, Indiana with Mr. James Finney to finish his schooling and to learn the saddlery and harness trade. Later the family moved to Evansville, Indiana. Here he married Miss Lucinda Smiley. In 1853 he, with his wife and three children, joined a party who were coming to California. They came across the plains in a prairie schooner, being six months on the way and enduring all kinds of perils, sufferings and hardships, finally arriving at Stockton, California. Shortly after his arrival he was elected Sheriff of San Joaquin County, serving his term with satisfaction. After retiring from the sheriff's office he went into the business of buying and selling cattle, travelling throughout the states of California and Oregon. In August 1864 he married his second wife, Miss Floretta A Brookfield, at Stockton, California. To this union were born Miss Nettie Adele, now Mrs. Carl D. Chadd; Miss Mattie, now Mrs. Fred H. Jewell; Geo. W., Jr., Fred G., Archie D. and Henry C. Peachy, there was also Miss Georgia, by his former wife, now Mrs. J. W. Turnbull. From Stockton, Bro. Peachy, with his family, moved to Marysville, Yuba County, Cal., where he manufactured saddles for the trade. From Marysville he moved to Susanville, Lassen County, Cal., where he conducted a harness and saddlery business for about five years. On April 8, 1881 he left Susanville to come to Los Angeles and soon purchased the saddlery and harness business of Workman Bros., Wm. H. and Elijah, in the Lanfranco Block on North Main Street, opposite the Downey Block. The Downey Block stood on the same lot on which stands the U. S. Court House and Post Office building, which business he conducted most successfully for many years.

Bro. Peachy was a man of fixed ideas and sentiments on what he believed to be right from which he could not be swerved. He demanded his due and expected to give due in return. He was greatly respected by his business associates and was regarded by all who knew him as an upright good citizen, neighbor and friend. He was a man of family instincts and took a justly pride in them. He was a good husband and an affectionate loving father and is greatly missed by all who knew him. Bro Peachy was a member of the Masonic Fraternity, a loyal member of the Sons of the Revolution and an honored member of the Los Angeles County Pioneer Society. Politically he was a Democrat.

He passed to his reward August 24th, 1910. The funeral service was held at the chapel of Overholzer & Sons Co., Rev. Baker P. Lee officiating. The attendance was large and the floral offerings were many and very choice. He was buried in beautiful Inglewood Cemetery. Comrade and Bro. Pioneer we bid thee farewell.

Respectfully submitted,

Register Of the Revolution In The State of California 1902
GEORE WASHINGTON PEACHY Son of BENJAMIN PEACHY
A Soldier of the Continental Army
The Society Sons of the Revolution in the State of California occupies the unique position of having upon its membership roll the son of a soldier who served through numerous campaigns, participated in many battles and endured all the rigors and hardships of Valley Forge during the war of the Revolution.
Benjamin Peachy was born in New Jersey, on December 26, 1746, and died in Washington, Davis County, Indiana, in 1835. His first enlistment was in the spring of 1777, when he was assigned to the New Jersey Regiment commanded by Colonel Israel Shreve. Subsequently he served in the First Battalion of the Cumberland County, New Jersey Militia, and finally he enlisted in the New Jersey Continental Line where he remained until the close of the war.
He was engaged in the Battles of Elizabethtown, Monmouth, Yorktown, and in numerous skirmishes, and he was one of the heroic band whose endurance and bravery during the terrible winter at Valley Forge were the preservation of the establishment of the Continental army. His name and services appear at large in the New Jersey State official records, and on the rolls of the Pension office at Washington.

His first wife was Miss Patterson, daughter of the owner of the town site of Patterson, New Jersey.

Soon after the declaration of peace, with his family he moved to Mason County, Kentucky, of which he was one of the first settlers. His wife died, leaving him several sons and daughters, who, as they arrived at maturity, married and established homes for themselves in Kentucky and Indiana.

In his old age, a mutual attraction sprang up between him and Miss Elizabeth C. Broadus, the daughter of a neighbor, but the course of true love in their case was obstructed by the hot-guns of her brothers, who threatened his life, should he presume to persuade their sister to a marriage, so great was the disparity in their ages. Her family moved to Washington, Indiana, and while they were there, Benjamin took occasion to visit two of his married sons living in that place. The ever youthful Cupid laughs at the obstructions against his mischief by hoary Time, as well as of locks and bars, and so, on a bright moonlight night, this aged Romeo carried his Juliet over the State line into Illinois, where they were married. Benjamin Peachy being a man of position and comparative wealth, the family of his bride was soon reconciled to the inevitable, and the happy pair retured to the Kentucky home in Mason County, where on May 18, 1829, was born their son, GEORGE WASHINGTON PEACHY, literally a SON OF THE REVOLUTION.

Both Benjamin Peachy and his wife, longing for the companionship of their relatives, while GEORGE was an infant, moved to Washington, Indiana, where a farm was purchased and upon which the family resided until the death of Benjamin. In 1831 was born to this aged father a daughter named Martha Jane Peachy, who was married to San Joaquin, California, to Colonel R. W. Stephenson, who became a distinguished officer in the Confederate Army under Gen. Price.

In the vicinity of the home of Benjamin, lived another soldier of the Revolution named George Lashly, and the most enthusiastic love of his country was impressed upon the heart of the little GEORGE in listening to the oft repeated stories by these veterans of their campaigns, their battles, their bleeding feet at Valley Forge, and the great tenderness and solitude of Washington for his suffering command. The lessons of patriotism of these old heroes, and their hatred of England, have never been forgotten by that boy, and probably there is not one living with a more, thorough detestation of England and English traits that GEORGE WASHINGTON PEACHY, who received his name through the veneration of his father for his Great Captain.

After the death of Benjamin, his widow went to live with relatives in Ohio, leaving GEORGE at Princeton, Indiana, with James Finney, with whom he remained until he was thirteen years old, learning the trade of harness and saddle making. In later years he was engaged in the harness, saddle and leather business in Louisville, Kentucky, and New Orleans, Louisiana, and finally settling in Evansville, Indiana, where he was married October 16, 1849.

On March 24, 1853, with his wife and two children he started overland for California, and the journey consumed six months, lacking eleven days, his family suffering all the hardships and perils of such migration. He settled in Stockton, and he has lived in Sacramento, Marysville, and Susanville. On April 8, 1881, he removed to Los Angeles, where he has carried on an extensive manufactory of saddles, harness and leather findings.

In stature he is six feet and six inches, and well proportioned, weighing three hundred and twenty pounds. In appearance he is dignified, handsome, elderly gentleman of a robust constitution that bids fair to carry him through many years of useful of age.

His spacious home stands upon extensive founds in East Los Angeles, and her in the society of his charming wife and children, he lives the life of an exemplary Christian, in the respect and affection of his neighbors and associates.
